TITANIUM 2009 SEEKING LATEST RESEARCH AND MARKET ORIENTED PRESENTATIONS

TITANIUM 2009 is the 25th annual conference and exhibition hosted and organized by Colorado based International Titanium Association (ITA). This year's TITANIUM Conference & Exhibition will be held September 13-16th at the Hilton Waikoloa Village on the Big Island of Hawaii.

International Titanium Association (ITA) is a not for profit, networking trade association representing the titanium metal industry. Established in 1984, the Association's main mission is to connect the public interested in using titanium with titanium specialists all over the world who may offer technical and sales assistance. Membership consists of 203 organizations worldwide representing over 1,500 individuals.

The ITA also supports committee activities, distributes publications, and sponsors a variety of educational workshops. More than 1,140 delegates attended TITANIUM 2008 from over 30 countries to study informed opinions from industry executives.

The ITA is pleased to invite you to submit papers on the latest research and market oriented presentations relating to the following topics listed below. Participation of students is also encouraged.

- World Demand Trends
- World Supply Trends
- Commercial Aerospace
- Military / Defense
- Automotive
- Manufacturing Technology such as advanced powder metallurgy, forming, casting and forging, for example, would be of interest.
- Medical
- Industrial
- Economy / Finance
- Energy Exploration and Production
- Mining
- New Materials
- Consumer / Recreation
- Architectural

Additional topics will be considered, at the ITA's discretion.

While the upheaval of the U.S. economic crisis continues to unfold, there is still an optimistic outlook of near-term business conditions and market opportunities for the global titanium industry. Exciting times are coming for those who contribute to new technologies and innovations.

The mission for TITANIUM 2009 will be to provide global insights on the state of the titanium industry from a world perspective. Delegates will leave with a more comprehensive understanding of current conditions in key market segments throughout the world. The point of the conference will be to examine current trends in titanium in all the consuming industry sectors and the ability of the industry to meet the demands of those markets. Attendance is open and includes key stakeholders, thereby providing a unique networking opportunity.

While the challenges facing this industry are different from those in the past, the TITANIUM Conference will address the key issues that will keep you informed. Contact the ITA for more details on the upcoming event and for instructions on submitting an abstract.
